

Wachusett Writers and Poets Club

Carla Wilson was raised in a bunch of institutions, which left her with a swath of independence and a compulsion to travel. Both have been, more or less, fulfilled. When Carla was too old for either, Pat Cosentino and her class fostered Carla's writing talent. Carla passed away in 2006. We wish to share her everlasting wit and humor with our readers.